Past performance is no guarantee of future results. Rated against 246 Tactical Allocation funds, as of 9/30/2018, based on risk-adjusted total return. Ratings are determined monthly and subject to change. The Overall Morningstar Rating for a fund is derived from a weighted average of the performance figures associated with its 3-, 5- and 10-year (if applicable) Morningstar Rating metrics.

As of 09/30/2018, Morningstar rated the Dynamic US Opportunity Fund as 4 stars overall, 5 stars over a three-year period, and 4 stars over a five-year period. The overall, three-year, and five-year rankings reflect a comparison against 246, 246, and 185 funds, respectively, within the Tactical Allocation category. The Morningstar Rating™ for funds, or "star rating", is calculated for managed products (including mutual funds, variable annuity and variable life subaccounts, exchange-traded funds, closed-end funds, and separate accounts) with at least a three-year history. Exchange-traded funds and open-ended mutual funds are considered a single population for comparative purposes. It is calculated based on a Morningstar Risk-Adjusted Return measure that accounts for variation in a managed product's monthly excess performance, placing more emphasis on downward variations and rewarding consistent performance. The Morningstar Rating does not include any adjustment for sales loads. The top 10% of products in each product category receive 5 stars, the next 22.5% receive 4 stars, the next 35% receive 3 stars, the next 22.5% receive 2 stars, and the bottom 10% receive 1 star. The Overall Morningstar Rating for a managed product is derived from a weighted average of the performance figures associated with its three-, five-, and 10-year (if applicable) Morningstar Rating metrics.

Glossary & Risk Considerations

The S&P 500 Index is an American broad market index based on the market capitalizations of 500 large companies having common stock listed on the NYSE or NASDAQ.

The Bloomberg Barclays US Aggregate Bond Index is representative of the entire universe of taxable fixed-income investments. It includes issues of the U.S. Government and any agency thereof, corporate issues of investment grade quality (Baa/BBB or better), and mortgage-backed securities.

Unmanaged index returns do not reflect any fees, expenses or sales charges, and it is not possible to invest directly in an index.

Alpha is a measure of the difference between a portfolio's actual returns and its expected performance, given its level of risk as measured by beta. Beta is a measure of volatility, or systematic risk, of a portfolio in comparison to a benchmark. A beta greater than one indicates more volatility, while a beta less than one indicates less volatility than the relevant benchmark. R-squared is a measure of how close the relationship is between a portfolio and its benchmark. Standard Deviation is a measure of the dispersion of investment returns from the mean. A higher standard deviation indicates higher volatility. Sharpe Ratio is a measurement of reward per unit of risk as calculated by the average monthly excess return divided by the monthly standard deviation of excess returns. Capture Ratio is the ratio of upside capture to downside capture. Upside capture is the statistical measure of an investment manager's overall performance in up-markets. The upside capture ratio is used to evaluate how well an investment manager performed relative to an index during periods when that index has risen. Downside capture is a statistical measure of an investment manager's overall performance in down-markets. Downside capture ratio is used to evaluate how well an investment manager performed relative to an index during periods when that index has exhibited negative performance.

Important Risk Information

The Fund is a 'fund of funds' and typically invests in other investment companies and exchange traded funds ("ETFs"). Costs of investing in the Fund are generally higher than direct investments and investors may bear the fees, expenses, and brokerage costs charged by the ETFs. ETFs carry security, market and sector risks, and may not perform as expected which could result in a decline in value. When the Fund invests in ETFs that own fixed income securities, the value of your investment in the Fund will fluctuate with changes in interest rates. The use of leverage and inverse leveraged ETF's may exaggerate changes in price and return. Accordingly, values may be more volatile and the risk of loss magnified when compared to non-leveraged investments. Other possible risks to the Fund include those related to investment in small and medium sized companies, foreign securities, currencies and emerging markets, and short-term trading. Please review the prospectus carefully for additional details.

Mutual Funds involve risk including the possible loss of principal.
